

Infection Prevention Education for Students

The goal of the Infection Prevention program is to identify and reduce risks of acquiring and transmitting infections among patients, staff, physicians, students, volunteers, contract service workers and visitors. Infection Prevention is the responsibility of everyone who cares for our patients. Each individual is responsible for being knowledgeable of and responsible for carrying out the policies and procedures that address Infection Prevention activities. Resources and their location are listed:

- Infection Prevention Policies can be located on FH Online – Policies – Infection Prevention & Control
  - Isolation Procedure Guidelines
  - Exposure Control Plan Bloodborne Pathogens
  - TB Exposure Control Plan
  - Safe Injection Practice
  - Infection Prevention Program Plan
  - Patient Care Services Departments
  - Non-patient Care Unit Specific
  - Hand Hygiene
  - Cleaning Environment, Patient Equipment, and Medical Devices
  - General Patient Care Services
  - Physical Facility
  - Respiratory Protection Program
  - Water Management Plan

Appropriate hand hygiene and compliance with isolation precautions requirements are important priorities!

The Infection Prevention Office is open Monday through Friday and is managed by two full time Infection Preventionists. Consultation on all aspects of Infection Prevention throughout the organization is available. In the absence of the Infection Preventionist, the Medical Director of the Infection Prevention Program or the Patient Care Supervisor will address Infection Prevention matters.
